History of Gosport

Gosport prospered during the 16th century with the rising importance of the Royal Navy and is associated as a major naval town with the defence and supply infrastructure of Her Majesty's Naval Base.

Having flourished in the Napoleonic Wars, the town is still home to HMS Sulton and Naval Armament Supply Facility, as well as a Helicopter Repair base.

The town's rich naval history can be experienced at multiple heritage sites and at the Royal Navy Submarine Museum on Haslar Road.
