PfP Thrive is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, vulnerable young people and vulnerable adults, and to providing a safe environment in which they can develop educationally, socially and emotionally, free from harm or abuse. PfP Thrive expects all members of staff and others who work with or come into direct contact with PfP Thrive apprentices to share this commitment. We recognise that:

- the welfare of children is paramount in all the work we do and in all the decisions we take

- all children, regardless of age, disability, gender reassignment, race, religion or belief, sex, or sexual orientation have an equal right to protection from all types of harm or abuse
- some children are additionally vulnerable because of the impact of previous
- experiences, their level of dependency, communication needs or other issues
- extra safeguards may be needed to keep children who are additionally vulnerable safe from abuse

Preventative strategies are essential to safeguarding, i.e. what we can do to help prevent safeguarding issues from arising in the first place. Fundamental to achieving this objective is developing and embedding a safeguarding culture with our people. Below are some of the mechanisms, strategies and behaviours that support this objective:

- Setting clear expectations of our staff in terms of professional conduct and boundaries, including instruction on managing allegations against a person in a position of trust
- Externally promoting our safeguarding values to prospective employees, volunteers, contractors and other third parties
- Embedding our safeguarding values in our policies and processes
- Safer recruitment strategies, including Disclosure and Barring (DBS) and Disclosure Scotland checks
- Encouraging professional curiosity
- Colleague empowerment to 'do the right thing'
- Colleague safeguarding support and supervision
- Zero tolerance of bullying behaviour
- A 'speak up and speak out' culture - whistleblowing

4. Policy scope

This policy is applicable to all staff, apprentices, visitors, contractors, volunteers, service providers, subcontractors who may be working with young adults (those aged 16-24) and vulnerable adults (as defined in section 59 of the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 and/or those persons aged 18 and over who by reason of mental or any other disability, age or illness are or may be unable to look after themselves or are or maybe unable to protect themselves against harm or exploitation) whom PfP Thrive encounters through any of their programmes.

We also recognise that safeguarding against radicalisation and extremism is no different to safeguarding against other risks that individuals may face. This policy also incorporates protecting individuals from being radicalised or exposed to extremist views. Our application of the Prevent Duty (policy here: Policy_prevent V1.2 Dec 2024 .docx) recognises that this applies to all individuals.

We will use the curriculum to provide opportunities for increasing self-awareness, self-esteem, social and emotional understanding, assertiveness and decision making so that apprentices and learners have the resilience, a range of contacts and strategies to ensure their own protection and understand the importance of protecting others. This will include online safety.

Systems have been established to support the empowerment of apprentices and learners to talk to a range of staff. Apprentices and learners will be listened to and heard and their concerns will be taken seriously and acted upon as appropriate.

8.Safer recruitment

PfP Thrive undertakes to ensure that the staff they employ are fit to work with apprentices. It also reserves the right to refuse to employ staff whom it has a reasonable belief may pose a risk to its apprentices. A summary is included below to cover all essentials.

PfP Thrive has systems in place to prevent unsuitable people from working with apprentices and to promote safe practice. These systems apply to all new staff and require the following checks to be made pre-appointment or directly following appointment.

- A minimum of 2 satisfactory references, one of which should be from the current or most recent employer. All references must cover a 5-year employment period.
- Original documentary evidence checks of identify, nationality, residence and “right to work” status will be checked at the formal interview stage.
- An Enhanced Disclosure and Barring of employment Service (DBS) Disclosure is completed for all those in “regulated activity” for all new members of staff on the first day with PfP Thrive. All new staff members will be shadowed until a DBS has been received by Places for People.
- A check under Section 142 of the Education Act 200 (previously known as “List 99”) will be undertaken for all workers who are not eligible for an enhanced DBS.
- Original documentary evidence of qualifications will be provided by the new applicant at the formal interview stage.

PfP Thrive Leadership team hold a Single Central Record (SCR) for all of our PfP Thrive team members.

Staff new to PfP Thrive receive a comprehensive overview of safeguarding during their initial induction, in particular how to recognise, respond and report abuse or suspected abuse, followed by a full safeguarding training session.

All new staff members complete a 6-month probationary period to monitor and review whether they are suitable for the post and safe to work with children/vulnerable young adults or adults at risk of harm. During this time, close supervision takes place regularly and written records are kept of all sessions. If the probationer's performance (including work performance, conduct, behaviour and attendance) does not meet required standards, performance or conduct then action may be taken which includes, but is not limited to the following:

- The probationer's employment may be confirmed.
- The probationary period should be extended.
- The probationer continues employment but in a lower graded job.
- The probationer should be dismissed with notice

The DSO will oversee the recruitment process to ensure that steps have been taken to ensure the welfare of our learners, recruitment managers must complete Safer Recruitment training.

9. Preventing abuse, neglect and exploitation

PfP Thrive undertakes to ensure that the staff they employ are fit to work with apprentices. It also reserves the right to refuse to employ staff whom it has a reasonable belief may pose a risk to its It is always better to try and prevent people from being abused, neglected or exploited in the first instance. There are several ways in which PfP Thrive aim to contribute to a preventative approach on safeguarding:

- Raise learner awareness of what constitutes abuse and how to report it
- Educate and empower everyone on how to recognise and protect themselves from abuse and neglect
- Empower individuals to seek access support from Local Authority, Social care, voluntary support agencies and health services
- Have mechanisms in place to identify people who may pose a risk to themselves or others

The legal framework and statutory guidance highlight the important contribution to be made by the housing, leisure and sport sectors, in safeguarding children, young people and adults at risk and emphasises the value of working in co-operation with the local authority and others in the public, private or voluntary sectors.

All staff should remain vigilant at all times and endeavour to underpin their everyday practice with the principles of best practice in safeguarding.

The following principles are documented in the statutory guidance for adults at risk and they represent a robust platform on which to base all aspects of safeguarding in Places for People:

- Empowerment – support for individuals to make their own decisions.
- Proportionality – the least intrusive or restrictive intervention appropriate to the risks presented.
- Partnership – working across services and communities to prevent, detect and report neglect and abuse.
- Prevention – taking action before harm occurs or risk escalates.
- Protection – supporting those in need as a result of abuse or neglect.
- Accountability – enabling customers and staff to challenge agencies for their responses to those at risk of harm.

Staff will receive appropriate training to be able to recognise the signs of harm and to respond effectively where an individual makes a disclosure to them. Staff should also be aware of the measures to take if there is a suspicion that a member of staff is involved in the harm of another individual.

Whilst it is recognised that no list of signs can be exhaustive, some potential indicators are listed below. There may be a combination of these, or they may be identified in isolation:

- Bruises and injuries with which the explanation given seems inconsistent
- Possible indicators of neglect, such as inadequate clothing, poor growth, hunger, poor hygiene
- Possible indicators of emotional harm, such as excessive dependence, attention seeking, self-harm
- Possible indicators of sexual harm, such as signs of bruises, scratches, bite mark, or behavioural signs such as precocity, withdrawal or inappropriate sexual behaviour
- Agitated or anxious behaviour
- Excessive nervousness
- Inappropriate or improper clothing
- Unhygienic or unkempt appearance
- Signs of discomfort or pain
- Frequent and increased absences
- Uncharacteristic changes in appearance, behaviour or their course performance
- Reluctant to go home or leave delivery locations

10. Online safety

The increasing use of the internet and digital technology has presented huge opportunities, both to enrich the learning environment for apprentices and also allowing them to expand their personal horizons. However, people are able to access and engage with online content in many ways, so they need to have the skills to be able to use the internet safely and develop appropriate online behaviours. It is paramount that people are aware of ways in which they can protect themselves online and ensure the security of their personal data. Dangers can include bullying and abuse, revenge porn, grooming, identity theft, and viruses.

As a training provider, PfP Thrive acknowledges that online safety is one of the integral components to keeping staff and learners safe. We provide safe access to the internet and digital technology to all staff and provide guidance for the management of remote learning delivery.

Access to the internet or email on computers within our premises will be monitored. Internet filtering systems are in place to monitor and safeguard all from accessing inappropriate sites; this is regularly reviewed and monitored by the Technology team to ensure the filters have not been compromised. Learner accessible machines have filtering and monitoring software that flags any concerning inputs to the Technology Team, Safeguarding Team and relevant staff. Downloading and forwarding unauthorised copyright information or materials that may be considered defamatory, racist, sexist, homophobic, incites hatred or violence, is sexually explicit or otherwise contravenes our key organisational policies and will be treated as gross misconduct.

PfP Thrive's role is:

- Assess how apprentices may be at risk of harm using the internet or technology.
- Provide relevant training for apprentices so that they can work safely and effectively online.
- Help apprentices to develop an objective attitude to online information and evaluate its authenticity.
- Make sure PfP Thrive Academy staff are trained to identify and deal with concerns about online safety.
- Provide clear guidance on what is and is not an acceptable use of the internet at PfP Thrive.

The Employer's role:

- Ensure apprentices are made aware of your organisation's policies on using the internet and technology in the workplace.
- Understand the dangers apprentices may face using technology in the workplace and act to minimise risks.
- Communicate any concerns about safety online to the PfP Thrive Safeguarding team

11. Safeguarding Process

It is essential that all victims are reassured that they are being taken seriously, regardless of how long it has taken them to come forward, and that they will be supported and kept safe. Abuse that occurs online or outside of the learning environment should not be downplayed and should be treated equally seriously. A victim should never be given the impression that they are creating a problem by reporting the abuse. Nor should a victim ever be made to feel ashamed for making a report.

It is important to explain that the law is in place to protect young people and vulnerable adults rather than criminalise them, and this should be explained in such a way that avoids alarming or distressing them.

In order to ensure any disclosure is dealt with effectively, the 5 Rs should be considered and followed.

Recognise

The ability to recognise behaviour that may indicate abuse is of fundamental importance. Signs and symptoms of abuse of young people or vulnerable adults may include direct disclosure. All relevant staff will be trained to understand signs of possible abuse and know how, where and to whom to report concerns.

Try to discuss the limits of confidentiality early on and explain your duty to pass on concerns under this policy. This helps to maintain trust and transparency.

- Practise active listening and engage your 'professional curiosity' when talking to learners. If a situation doesn't feel right, it often isn't
- Practice the 'one-chance rule.' A learner may choose to disclose something once only, so be prepared to listen and give them that opportunity as they may never do this again
- If abuse is suspected, but has not been disclosed, you should approach the Designated Safeguarding Officer (DSO) or a Deputy DSO for advice.

If you have concerns about a learner, but do not believe that they are being abused or are at risk of immediate harm, you should:

- Speak to the learner about the concerns.
- Speak to the Designated Safeguarding Officer (DSO) or a Deputy DSO, who will consider and advise whether PfP Thrive should register the concern.

A learner may disclose to you that they are being abused, may be at risk of significant harm, or may be a risk to themselves. If a disclosure of abuse or harm is made, you must follow these steps:

Respond

An appropriate response is vital. No report or concern about possible abuse should ever be ignored and they should ensure:

- They do not lead or probe with questions
- Remain calm and demonstrate interest and concern while investigating
- Question without pressure to be sure that what is being said is properly understood.
- Tell the learner that you may need to disclose information to others to ensure any risk to them or others is minimised and do not agree to any off the record disclosures
- Reassure them that they have done the correct thing in reporting their concerns and that it will be dealt with in a sensitive and appropriate way, ensuring any information is suitably restricted
- Record any disclosures on the Safeguarding Report Form. Note the main points carefully:
 - what the individual said/did.
 - the questions you asked.
 - any names, dates, times, and places.
- Consider if the concern also relates to someone else, e.g., a child/family member

Do not:

- ask leading questions or put words into the mouth of the disclosing individual.
- investigate concerns/ allegations.
- promise or indicate confidentiality.
- make any judgments or promises.

In such circumstances where adults disclose that they are being abused or neglected, but do not want it to be reported, staff members should tell the person that they must raise the concern in confidence with the Designated Safeguarding Officer (or a deputy) as is your duty under this policy.

Staff should assure the adult concerned that they will be informed of any action which is taken and the reasons why it was taken.

Report

All safeguarding and Prevent concerns should be reported at the very first opportunity and within 1 working day where any delay increases the risk. Note, if an individual is at immediate risk of significant harm, contact a first aider or the emergency services first.

Please refer to the Safeguarding Flow Chart for further guidance (in Appendix A).

If a concern is noted, by the individual of concern or elsewhere staff within the academy are to report the concern using the “Safeguarding disclosure form”. Template Safeguarding Disclosure Form V1.0 October 24.docx. The safeguarding form is available on the PfP Thrive SharePoint, it can be edited directly on the drive and then sent to the DSO team by email.

Otherwise the form could be printed and then either scanned in to send to the DSOs or hand delivered to the academy office in Derby.

When completing the form, you should consider:

- The full name(s) of the person you're concerned about plus anyone else involved
- Include the dates, times, locations and full details of anyone who has provided information or may be at risk
- Consider whether the disclosure places anyone else at risk of harm and include these details where possible
- Describe your concerns clearly – but keep it factual and free from judgements
- Record any actions you've already taken to protect the person

Once concerns have been reported, responsibility for taking any further action resides with the DSO dealing with the report.

Record

Disclosures, incidents or concerns and the subsequent investigation and assessment are accurately recorded, updated and monitored through the approved systems and document formats. The Information will be stored securely, confidentially and only accessible to those who need access to support with the concern.

The Designated Safeguarding Officer will outline the action that must be taken in order to explain this to the student.

Refer

The decision to refer lies with the Designated Safeguarding Officer (or the nominated Deputy) dealing with the disclosure, having gathered and examined all relevant information. Under normal circumstances investigations will not be completed by any other staff. Investigations may involve questioning colleagues, learners, employers, carers, parents, delivery staff and the complainant, as relevant and necessary

The DSO will have access to organisations and websites in order to seek guidance including local safeguarding boards threshold documents and a directory of relevant support agencies. The DSO dealing with the disclosure will decide what action to take, liaising with the Academy Director where necessary

The member of staff must not take any further action themselves. This includes contacting parents/carers or outside agencies.

Additional guidance and effective practice

- Be person-led and outcome-focused.
- Be prepared to talk, within the limits of your own confidence.
- Engage the person in a conversation about how best to respond to their safeguarding situation that:
 - enhances involvement, choice, and control.
 - improves their quality of life, wellbeing, and safety.
- Do not hold onto information. Always act immediately and contact the Designated Safeguarding Officer (or deputy) with your concerns.
- Never assume someone else is doing something or has passed information on already.
- Continue to update the DSO with relevant information.
- Practise self-care - Remember that the Safeguarding Group are there to support you. Contact HR for advice or support if a situation is affecting you or consider using the Employee Assistance Programme.
- Be careful not to:
 - Provide or offer support beyond professional boundaries.
 - Provide support beyond your level of confidence

A third party informs a member of staff information about a student

If a member of staff receives information about a student which suggests that there is a safeguarding issue or that this is likely, this must be recorded on a Safeguarding Disclosure Form and reported immediately to a Designated Safeguarding Person.

PfP Thrive has a duty to refer these concerns to the Local Authority Children's Social Care Officer for the area in which the student lives or to the police if the student is in immediate danger.

A member of staff suspects a student has a safeguarding concern

If a member of staff suspects that a student is at risk from a safeguarding issue, they must discuss these concerns with a Designated Safeguarding Person and not take any independent action. The concerns must be recorded on the Safeguarding Disclosure form.

All contact with outside agencies over issues of safeguarding must be approved by the Designated Safeguarding Officer/Deputy Designated Safeguarding Officers who will decide whether to make a referral to children's social care.

Parents/carers have the right to be informed in respect of any concerns or any actions taken to safeguard and promote their welfare, providing this does not compromise the student's safety.

Our DSOs are available by phone outside of office hours should learners require support or need assistance.

Safeguarding concerns whilst attending the Academy

PfP Thrive will ensure that employers are aware of this policy and their responsibilities of compliance in relation to Safeguarding for any student who is placed with them and that arrangements are in place to ensure that a student's well being is safeguarded.

If a concern arises whilst a learner is attending the Academy, or staying in a hotel during their visit, it will be dealt with via the local authorities. The safeguarding team within the academy will ensure that they have the appropriate contacts for learners who are travelling from other counties so that concerns can be referred to the appropriate service where they live.

Concerns about another Staff Member

It is recognised that sometimes allegations may involve a member of PfP Thrive Staff. In these circumstances the allegation must be reported directly to the Director of PfP Thrive, the Governing Board, a Senior Leader within the People Team (a People Business Partner or Head of Shared Services), or a member of the Places for People Executive team (Chief People Officer, Chief of Staff, Chief Risk Officer).

On receipt of such an allegation, Places for People disciplinary procedures relating to allegations of abuse will be followed.

Allegations of abuse made against other young people

PfP Thrive recognises that children themselves are capable of abusing their peers and are to be aware that safeguarding issues can manifest themselves as peer-on-peer abuse.

Peer-on-peer abuse is abuse young people may experience from their peers (people of their own or similar age) perpetrated by a young person/s (under the age of 18 years)/vulnerable adult(s) young person(s) vulnerable adult(s).

Employees need to be aware that abuse is abuse and should never be tolerated or passed off as 'banter' or 'part of growing up'. PfP Thrive will take any concerns of this nature very seriously and concerns should be raised in the same way as any other concerns, directly to a Tutor or to the Safeguarding Team.

Peer on peer abuse can take the form of bullying (including cyber-bullying), sexting and any other form of sexual or physical abuse. Gender based issues can also occur for example girls being sexually touched/assaulted or boys being subject to initiation/hazing type violence.

12. Concerns about the process

All staff should feel able to raise concerns about poor or unsafe practice and potential failures in the PfP Thrive's safeguarding practices and that such concerns would be taken seriously by the Management and Leadership Team.

If staff members have any concerns about the safeguarding regime, they should raise this initially with their Line Manager. If no immediate action is taken, then appropriate Whistleblowing Procedures are in place for such concerns to be raised with the Management and Leadership Team.

Where a staff member feels unable to raise an issue with PfP Thrive or feels that their genuine concerns are not being addressed, other whistleblowing channels may be open to them.

The NSPCC whistleblowing helpline is available for staff who do not feel able to raise concerns regarding child protection failures internally.

Staff can call :08000280285 – line is available from 8:00 AM to 8:00 PM, Monday to Friday and Email: help@nspcc.org.uk

13. Policy review and version control

This Policy will be reviewed annually or in the event of changes in rules or to take into account changes in working practices that may result from incidents.

Appendix B: A-Z Definitions

(Definitions and certain guidance taken from Keeping Children Safe in Education (KCSI)2022 and the supplementary guidance within KCSI.) Keeping children safe in education 2024 \(publishing.service.gov.uk\)

Any definitions should always be considered alongside the KCSIE update 2023, these definitions are for reference only.

Staff should be aware that abuse, neglect and safeguarding issues are rarely standalone events that can be covered by definition or label. In most cases multiple issues will overlap with one another.

Abuse:

a form of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm or by failing to act to prevent harm. Harm can include ill treatment that is not physical as well as the impact of witnessing ill treatment of others. This can be particularly relevant, for example, in relation to the impact on children of all forms of domestic abuse. Children may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting by those known to them or, more rarely, by others. Abuse can take place wholly online, or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse. Children may be abused by an adult or adults or by another child or children.

Physical abuse:

a form of abuse which may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child.

Emotional abuse:

the persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond a child's developmental capability as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning or preventing the child from participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyberbullying), causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, although it may occur alone.

Sexual abuse:

involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing, and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse. Sexual abuse can take place online, and technology can be used to facilitate offline abuse. Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children. The sexual abuse of children by other children is a specific safeguarding issue in education and all staff should be aware of it and of their school or college's policy and procedures for dealing with it.

Child-on-child abuse:

All staff should be aware that children can abuse other children (often referred to as child-on-child abuse), and that it can happen both inside and outside of school or college and online. All staff should be clear as to the school's or college's policy and procedures with regard to child-on-child abuse and the important role they have to play in preventing it and responding where they believe a child may be at risk from it.

All staff should understand that even if there are no reports in their schools or colleges it does not mean it is not happening, it may be the case that it is just not being reported. As such it is important if staff have any concerns regarding child-on-child abuse they should speak to their designated safeguarding officer (or a deputy).

It is essential that all staff understand the importance of challenging inappropriate behaviours between children, many of which are listed below, that are abusive in nature. Downplaying certain behaviours, for example dismissing sexual harassment as "just banter", "just having a laugh", "part of growing up" or "boys being boys" can lead to a culture of unacceptable behaviours, an unsafe environment for children and in worst case scenarios a culture that normalises abuse leading to children accepting it as normal and not coming forward to report it.

Child-on-child abuse is most likely to include, but may not be limited to:

- bullying (including cyberbullying, prejudice-based and discriminatory bullying)
- abuse in intimate personal relationships between children (sometimes known as 'teenage relationship abuse')
- physical abuse such as hitting, kicking, shaking, biting, hair pulling, or otherwise causing physical harm (this may include an online element which facilitates, threatens and/or encourages physical abuse)
- sexual violence, such as rape, assault by penetration and sexual assault; (this may include an online element which facilitates, threatens and/or encourages sexual violence)
- sexual harassment, such as sexual comments, remarks, jokes and online sexual harassment, which may be standalone or part of a broader pattern of abuse
- causing someone to engage in sexual activity without consent, such as forcing someone to strip, touch themselves sexually, or to engage in sexual activity with a third party
- consensual and non-consensual sharing of nude and semi-nude images and/or videos¹¹ (also known as sexting or youth produced sexual imagery)
- upskirting,¹² which typically involves taking a picture under a person's clothing without their permission, with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks to obtain sexual gratification, or cause the victim humiliation, distress, or alarm, and
- initiation/hazing type violence and rituals (this could include activities involving harassment, abuse or humiliation used as a way of initiating a person into a group and may also include an online element).

Bullying, including cyberbullying:

Under the Children Act 1989, a bullying incident should be addressed as child protection concern when there is 'reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm'.

Where this is the case, PfP Thrive should report concerns to a member of the Safeguarding Team. Even where safeguarding is not considered to be an issue, PfP Thrive may need to draw on a range of external services to support the student who is experiencing bullying or tackle any underlying issue which has contributed to a student engaging in bullying.

Bullying is behaviour by an individual or group, repeated over time, that intentionally hurts another individual or group either physically or emotionally. Bullying can take many forms (for instance, cyber-bullying via text messages or the internet), and is often motivated by prejudice against particular groups, for example on grounds of race, gender, religion, sexual orientation, or because a child is adopted or has caring responsibilities. It might be motivated by actual differences between children, or perceived differences.

Stopping violence and ensuring immediate physical safety is obviously PfP Thrive's first priority, but staff need to be aware that emotional abuse can be more damaging than physical abuse.

Many experts say that bullying involves an imbalance of power between the perpetrator and the victim. This could involve perpetrators of bullying having control over the relationship which makes it difficult for those they bully to defend themselves. The imbalance of power can manifest itself in several ways, it may be physical, psychological (knowing what upsets someone), derive from an intellectual imbalance, or by having access to the support of a group, or the capacity to socially isolate. It can result in the intimidation of a person or persons through the threat of violence or by isolating them either physically or online.

Child Missing from Education:

A young person going missing from education is a potential indicator of abuse or neglect. PfP Thrive Teach and Co-ordination team should follow PfP Thrive Training procedures for dealing with students that go missing from education, particularly on repeat occasions, to help identify the risk of abuse and neglect, including sexual exploitation, and to help prevent the risks of their going missing in future.

It is essential that all staff are alert to signs to look out for and the individual triggers to be aware of when considering the risks of potential safeguarding concerns such as travelling to conflict zones, FGM and forced marriage. Any concerns should be referred to a member of the Safeguarding Team.

Looked after Child:

a child who is looked after by a local authority by the reason of a care order or being accommodated under section 20 of the Children Act 1989.

Care Leaver:

an eligible, relevant or former relevant child as defined by the Children Act 1989.

Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE) and Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE):

Both CSE and CCE are forms of abuse that occur where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance in power to coerce, manipulate or deceive a child into taking part in sexual or criminal activity, in exchange for something the victim needs or wants, and/or for the financial advantage or increased status of the perpetrator or facilitator and/or through violence or the threat of violence. CSE and CCE can affect children, both male and female and can include children who have been moved (commonly referred to as trafficking) for the purpose of exploitation.

Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE):

Some specific forms of CCE can include children being forced or manipulated into transporting drugs or money through county lines, working in cannabis factories, shoplifting, or pickpocketing. They can also be forced or manipulated into committing vehicle crime or threatening/committing serious violence to others.

Children can become trapped by this type of exploitation, as perpetrators can threaten victims (and their families) with violence or entrap and coerce them into debt. They may be coerced into carrying weapons such as knives or begin to carry a knife for a sense of protection from harm from others. As children involved in criminal exploitation often commit crimes themselves, their vulnerability as victims is not always recognised by adults and professionals, (particularly older children), and they are not treated as victims despite the harm they have experienced. They may still have been criminally exploited even if the activity appears to be something they have agreed or consented to. 39. It is important to note that the experience of girls who are criminally exploited can be very different to that of boys. The indicators may not be the same, however professionals should be aware that girls are at risk of criminal exploitation too. It is also important to note that both boys and girls being criminally exploited may be at higher risk of sexual exploitation.

Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE):

CSE is a form of child sexual abuse. Sexual abuse may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or nonpenetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing, and touching outside clothing. It may include non-contact activities, such as involving children in the production of sexual images, forcing children to look at sexual images or watch sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways or grooming a child in preparation for abuse including via the internet.

CSE can occur over time or be a one-off occurrence and may happen without the child's immediate knowledge for example through others sharing videos or images of them on social media.

CSE can affect any child who has been coerced into engaging in sexual activities. This includes 16- and 17-year-olds who can legally consent to have sex. Some children may not realise they are being exploited for example they believe they are in a genuine romantic relationship.

Domestic Abuse:

can encompass a wide range of behaviours and may be a single incident or a pattern of incidents. That abuse can be, but is not limited to, psychological, physical, sexual, financial or emotional. Children can be victims of domestic abuse. They may see, hear, or experience the effects of abuse at home and/or suffer domestic abuse in their own intimate relationships (teenage relationship abuse). All of which can have a detrimental and long-term impact on their health, well-being, development, and ability to learn.

Drugs:

This includes alcohol, tobacco, illegal drugs, medicines, new psychoactive substances ('legal highs') and volatile substances.

Fabricated or induced illness:

There are three main ways of the parent / carer fabricating or inducing illness in a child. These are not mutually exclusive and include:

- Fabrication of signs and symptoms which may include fabrication of past medical history
- Fabrication of signs and symptoms and falsification of hospital charts and records, and specimens of bodily fluids. This may include falsification of letters and documents
- Induction of illness by a variety of means

is child abuse linked to faith or belief. This includes: belief in concepts of witchcraft and spirit possession, demons or the devil acting through children or leading them astray (traditionally seen in some Christian beliefs), the evil eye or djinns (traditionally known in some Islamic faith contexts) and dakini (in Hindu context): ritual or multi murders where the killing of children is believed to bring supernatural benefits or the use of their body parts is believed to produce potent magical remedies: and use of belief in magic or witchcraft to create fear in children to make them more compliant when they are being trafficked for domestic slavery or sexual exploitation.

This is not an exhaustive list and there will be other examples where children have been harmed when adults think that their actions have brought bad fortune, such as telephoning a wrong number which is believed by some to allow malevolent spirits to enter the home.

Honour Based Violence (HBV):

So-called 'honour based violence' encompasses crimes which have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or the community, including Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), forced marriage and practices such as breast ironing. All forms of so-called HBV are abuse (regardless of the motivation) and should be handled and escalated as such. If in any doubt, staff should speak to one of the Safeguarding Team.

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM):

Whilst all staff should speak to the designated safeguarding officer (or a deputy) with regard to any concerns about female genital mutilation (FGM), there is a specific Legal duty on teachers

If a teacher, in the course of their work in the profession, discovers that an act of FGM appears to have been carried out on a girl under the age of 18, the teacher must report this to the police.

Although the age of students at PfP Thrive Academy is such that they are not necessarily in the high-risk category for FGM, a student may disclose that she is at risk of FGM, has suffered FGM or that a sister or family member is at risk.

PfP Thrive Academy Teaching staff need to be alert to the possibility of a girl being at risk of FGM, or already having suffered FGM. The new mandatory reporting duty for FGM, introduced via the Serious Crime Act 2015, came into effect on 31 October 2015.

This duty requires PfP Thrive Academy to report known cases of FGM in under 18 year olds to the police.

Forced Marriage:

Forcing a person into a marriage is a crime in England and Wales. A forced marriage is one entered without the full and free consent of one or both parties and where violence, threats or any other form of coercion is used to cause a person to enter into a marriage.

The pressure put on people to marry against their will can be physical (including threats, actual physical violence and sexual violence) or emotional and psychological (for example, when someone is made to feel like they're bringing shame on their family). Financial abuse (taking wages or not giving money) can also be a factor.

A lack of full and free consent can be where a person does not consent or where they cannot consent (if they have learning disabilities, for example). Nevertheless, some communities use religion and culture as a way to coerce a person into marriage.

An arranged marriage is not the same as a forced marriage. In an arranged marriage, the families take a leading role in choosing a marriage partner, but both parties are free to choose whether to enter into the marriage or not.

Gangs and Youth Violence:

Gang Activity – Groups of children and young people often gather together in public places to socialise, and peer association is an essential feature of most children's transition to adulthood. Groups of children and young people can be disorderly and/or anti-social without engaging in criminal activity.

Young people on the periphery of becoming involved with street gangs and those young people already involved in some way can be described as 'A relatively durable, predominantly street-based group of young people who see themselves (and are seen by others) as a discernible group for whom crime and violence is integral to the group's identity'.

Youth Violence:

Youth violence, serious or otherwise, may be a function of gang activity. However, it could equally represent the behaviour of a child acting individually in response to his or her particular history and circumstances.

'Serious youth violence' is defined as 'any offence of most serious violence or weapon enabled crime, where the victim is aged 1-19', i.e. murder, manslaughter, rape, wounding with intent and causing grievous bodily harm.

'Youth violence' is defined in the same way, but also includes assault with injury offences. Most children and young people do not become violent overnight. Their behaviour represents many years of (increasingly) anti-social and aggressive acts.

Mental Health:

All staff should be aware that mental health problems can, in some cases, be an indicator that a child has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect or exploitation.

Only appropriately trained professionals should attempt to make a diagnosis of a mental health problem. Education staff, however, are well placed to observe children day-to-day and identify those whose behaviour suggests that they may be experiencing a mental health problem or be at risk of developing one. Schools and colleges can access a range of advice to help them identify children in need of extra mental health support, this includes working with external agencies.

If staff have a mental health concern about a child that is also a safeguarding concern, immediate action should be taken, following their child protection policy, and speaking to the designated safeguarding officer or a deputy.

Modern Slavery

Modern slavery encompasses slavery, human trafficking, forced and compulsory labour and domestic servitude. Traffickers and slave masters use whatever means they have at their disposal to coerce, deceive, and force individuals into a life of abuse, servitude, and inhumane treatment. A large number of active organised crime groups are involved in modern slavery. However, it is also committed by individual opportunistic perpetrators.

There are many different characteristics that distinguish slavery from other human rights violations. However, only one needs to be present for slavery to exist.

Someone is in slavery if they are:

- Forced to work - through mental or physical threat
- Owned or controlled by an 'employer,' usually through mental or physical abuse or the threat of abuse;
- Dehumanised, treated as a commodity or bought and sold as 'property'; or
- Physically constrained or have restrictions placed on his/her freedom of movement.

Modern slavery takes various forms and affects people of all ages, gender, and races.

Human trafficking involves an act of recruiting, transporting, transferring, harbouring, or receiving a person through a use of force, coercion, or other means, for the purpose of exploiting them. Trafficking can be domestic, or it can involve trafficking adults into the UK.

If an identified victim of human trafficking is also an adult with care and support needs, the response will be coordinated under the adult safeguarding process. The police are the lead agency in managing responses to adults who are the victims of human trafficking.

There is a national framework to assist in the formal identification of victims and help to coordinate the referral of victims to appropriate services. This is known as the National Referral Mechanism

Possible Indicators of Modern Slavery:

Signs of various types of slavery and exploitation are often hidden, making it hard to recognise potential victims. Victims can be any age, gender or ethnicity or nationality. Whilst by no means exhaustive, some common signs that may indicate modern slavery are:

- An individual is not in possession of their legal documents (passport, identification, and bank account details) and they are being held by someone else
- The individual has old or serious untreated injuries, and they are vague, reluctant, or inconsistent in explaining how the injury occurred
- The individual looks malnourished, unkempt, or appears withdrawn
- They have few personal possessions and often wear the same clothes.
- The clothes they do wear may not be suitable for their work
- The individual is withdrawn or appears frightened, unable to answer questions directed at them, or speak for themselves and/or an accompanying third party speaks for them. If they do speak, they are inconsistent in the information they provide, including basic facts such as the address where they live
- They appear under the control and influence of others, rarely interact, or appear unfamiliar with their neighbourhood or where they work. Many victims will not be able to speak English
- They are fearful of people in general and the authorities in particular
- The individual perceives themselves to be in debt to someone else or in a situation of dependence
- The individual lives in inappropriate or unduly cramped accommodation
- Sometimes in groups, are seen in places where you wouldn't expect. For example, groups of adults waiting in the countryside and not at a bus stop for a "lift"

Environmental Indicators to Modern Slavery Signs outside of a property that may indicate modern slavery is taking place includes:

- Bars covering the windows of the property
- Curtains are always drawn
- There are coverings over the windows, such as reflective film or coatings
- The entrance has CCTV cameras installed
- The letterbox is sealed to prevent use
- There are signs that the electricity may have been tacked on from neighbouring properties or directly from power lines

Signs inside the property that may indicate modern slavery includes:

- Locked rooms or no access to the back rooms of the property
- Overcrowding
- The house is in poor condition, needing repair work

Neglect:

Neglect and acts of omission include ignoring medical, emotional, or physical care needs, failing to provide access to appropriate health, social care or educational services, and the withholding of the necessities of life such as medication, adequate nutrition, and heating. Neglect also includes a failure to intervene in situations that are dangerous to the person concerned or to others, particularly when the person lacks the mental capacity to assess risk for themselves.

Neglect and poor professional practice may take the form of isolated incidents or pervasive ill treatment and gross misconduct. Neglect of this type may happen within an adult's own home or in an institution. Repeated instances of poor care may be an indication of more serious problems. Neglect can be intentional or unintentional.

Possible indicators of neglect are:

- The individual has inadequate heating and/or lighting
- The individual's physical condition or appearance is poor (e.g., ulcers, pressure sores, soiled or wet clothing)
- The individual is malnourished, has sudden or continuous weight loss and/or is dehydrated
- The individual cannot access appropriate medication or medical care •
- The individual is not afforded appropriate privacy or dignity
- The individual and/or a carer has inconsistent or reluctant contact with health and social service
- Callers/visitors are refused access to the individual
- The individual is exposed to unacceptable risk

Self-Neglect

Self-neglect entails neglecting to care for one's personal hygiene, health or surroundings and includes behaviour such as hoarding. It is also defined as the inability, intentional or unintentional, to maintain a socially and culturally accepted standard of self-care with the potential for serious consequences to the health and wellbeing of the individual and sometimes to their community.

A decision on whether a response is required under safeguarding will depend on the individual's ability to protect themselves by controlling their own behaviour. However, there may come a point where they are no longer able to do this without external support.

Indicators of self-neglect may include:

- living in very unclean, sometimes verminous, circumstances;
- poor self-care, leading to a decline in personal hygiene
- poor nutrition
- poorly healing sores
- poorly maintained clothing •
- failure to take medication
- hoarding
- neglecting household maintenance
- portraying eccentric behaviour/lifestyles

Poor environments and personal hygiene may be a matter of personal or lifestyle choice or other issues, such as insufficient income.

Preventing Radicalisation

Please read the additional PfP Thrive Prevent Policy also

The Prevent Duty, introduced as part of the Counter-Terrorism and Security ACT 2015, came into effect for key bodies including schools, health bodies and police on 1 July 2015. The duty commenced for higher and further education institutions from the 18th September.

The aim of the Prevent Strategy is to reduce the threat to the UK from terrorism by stopping people becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism. In the Act this has simply been expressed as the need to have “due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism”. This includes not just violent extremism but also non-violent extremism, which can create an atmosphere conducive to terrorism and can popularise views which terrorists exploit.

Where deemed appropriate, PfP Thrive will seek external support for learners through referrals to the Channel Programme. This programme aims to work with the individuals to address their specific vulnerabilities and prevent them becoming further radicalized

What is Terrorism/Extremism?

Terrorism covers all forms of extremism both violent and non-violent and is defined in the national Prevent Strategy as any vocal or active opposition to fundamental British Values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty, and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. Prevent covers internal and domestic terrorist threats, and includes the activities of far right groups, and animal rights groups.

What is Radicalisation?

Radicalisation is defined as the process by which people come to support terrorism and extremism and, in some cases, to then participate in terrorist groups. There is no obvious profile of a person likely to become involved in extremism or a single indicator of when a person might move to adopt violence in support of extremist ideas.

The process of radicalisation is different for every individual and can take place over an extended period or within a very short time frame. Safeguarding from extremism is no different to how staff would share a concern about drugs, physical and sexual abuse or any other safeguarding concern.

What is Channel?

Channel is a key element of the Prevent Strategy. It is a multi-agency approach to protect people at risk from radicalisation using collaboration between local authorities, statutory partners, the police and local community to:

- Identify individuals at risk of being drawn into terrorism
- Assess the nature and extent of that risk
- Develop the most appropriate support plan for the individual concerned

The following indicators identify factors that may suggest a young person, or their family may be vulnerable to being drawn into extremism:

- Identify crisis – distance from culture, religious heritage and discomfort with their place in the society around them.
- Personal crisis – family tensions, sense of isolation, adolescence, low self-esteem, disassociation from existing friendship groups and becoming involved with a new and different group of friends searching for answers to questions about identity, faith and belonging.
- Personal circumstances- migration, local community tensions, events affecting Country and region, alienation from UK values having a sense of grievance that is triggered by personal experience of racism or discrimination or aspects of Government policy, unmet aspirations, perceptions of injustice feeling of failure, rejection of civic life, criminality, experiences of imprisonment, poor resettlement, reintegration, previous involvement with criminal groups.

The process of radicalization is different for every individual and can take place over an extended period or within a very short time frame. Potential indicators of radicalisation are listed below;

- Use of inappropriate language
- Possession or accessing violent extremist literature
- Behavioural changes
- The expression of extremist views
- Advocating violent actions and means
- Association with known extremists
- Articulating support for violent extremist causes or leaders
- Using extremist views to explain personal disadvantage
- Joining or seeking to join extremist organisations
- Seeking to recruit others to an extremist ideology

Any prejudice, discrimination or extremist views, including derogatory language, displayed by learners or staff will always be challenged and where appropriate will be dealt with in line with the Student Disciplinary Policy and the Code of conduct for staff.

Staff should use their professional judgement and discuss with a Designated Safeguarding Person if they have any concerns. Once assessed, and if appropriate, this will be referred.

Youth Produced Sexual Imagery (Sexting):

Making, possessing and distributing and imagery of someone under 18 which is indecent is illegal. This includes imagery created by under 18s themselves. The relevant legislation is contained in the Protection of Children ACT 1978 (England and Wales) as amended in the Sexual Offences Act 2003 (England and Wales).

Specifically, it is an offence to possess and distribute, show and make images of children.

The Sexual Offences Act 2003 defines a child, for the purposes of indecent images, as anyone under the age of 18.

The latest guidance from the UK Council for Child Internet Safety (UKCCIS) introduces the phrase 'youth produced sexual imagery' instead of 'sexting'. (August 2016). This guidance refers to sexual imagery and not indecent imagery as indecent is subjective and has no specific definition in law.

The types of incidents covered by this guidance are:

- A person under the age of 18 creates and shares sexual images of themselves with a peer under the age of 18
- A person under the age of 18 shares sexual imagery created by another person under the age of 18 with a peer under the age of 18 or an adult
- A person under the age of 18 is in possession of sexual imagery created by another person under the age of 18

The sharing of sexual imagery of people under 18 by adults constitutes child sexual abuse and this should be reported to the police.

Handling Incidents

- All incidents involving youth produced sexual imagery should be reported to the Safeguarding Team.
- An initial review meeting will be held and subsequent interviews with the young people involved, if appropriate.
- Parents should be informed at an early stage and involved in the process unless there is good reason to believe that involving parents would put the young person at risk of harm.
- At any point in this process if there is a concern that a young person has been harmed or is at risk of harm, a referral should be made to children's social care and/or the police immediately.

An immediate referral to the police and/or children's social care will be made at this initial stage if:

- The incident involves an adult.
- There is reason to believe that a young person has been coerced, blackmailed or groomed, or if there are concerns about their capacity to consent, for example due to a learning difficulty.
- What is known about the imagery suggests the content depicts sexual acts which are unusual for the young person's development age or are violent.
- The imagery involves sexual acts and any child in the imagery is under 13.
- There is reason to believe that a young person is at risk of harm owing to the sharing of imagery, for example, the young person is presenting as suicidal or self-harming.

If none of the above applies, PFP Thrive may decide to respond to the incident without involving the police or children's social care. Although the sharing of sexual imagery is illegal, the National Police Chief's Council (NPCC) is clear that 'youth produced sexual imagery should be primarily treated as a safeguarding issue' and the law was also created to protect children and young people and not to criminalise them.

Relationship Abuse

Emotional abuse – can include constant insults and name calling, isolation from friends and family, controlling what someone wears/where they go, checking up on someone all the time (checking emails, texts, social networking sites etc.) and making someone feel responsible for the abuse.

Physical abuse – can include hitting, punching, pushing, biting, kicking, using weapons etc.

Sexual abuse – can include unwanted kissing or touching, forcing someone to have sex, being made to watch pornography against their will and pressure not to use contraception.

Financial abuse – can include the taking and controlling of money, forcing someone to buy things for someone, forcing someone to work or not to work.

Trafficking

Trafficking is defined as 'the recruitment, transportation, transfer, harbouring or receipt of children by means of threat, force or coercion for the purpose of sexual or commercial sexual exploitation or domestic servitude'(NSPCC).

The Palermo Protocol establishes children as a special case for whom there are only two components - movement and exploitation.

Any child transported for exploitative reasons is considered to be a trafficking victim-whether or not he/she has been deceived, because it is not considered possible for children to give informed consent.

A child may be trafficked without crossing any national borders, e.g. only within the UK.

A child may be trafficked between a number of countries prior to being trafficked into/within the UK. The child may have entered the UK illegally or legally (i.e. with immigration documents).

The intention to exploit the child underpins the entire process.

The Modern Slavery Act 2015 consolidates current offences of trafficking and slavery and details the different forms of exploitation that a victim of trafficking may be forced into.

The exploitation can take place in a number of ways including:

- Sexual Exploitation
- Labour Exploitation
- Criminal Exploitation
- Domestic Servitude
- Organ Harvesting

Distinction between human trafficking and smuggling:

Human trafficking does not include people smuggling, which requires the consent of the person being moved. A smuggled person is, however, a potential victim who may be vulnerable to being trafficked at any point in their journey, and the distinction can be blurred. Perpetrators may smuggle people with the intention of exploiting them, or with the intention of facilitating exploitation. Alternatively, the smuggled can become vulnerable to traffickers upon arrival at their destination and subsequently be exploited and/or harmed.
